Induction Course

Induction course is a 12-day course held in Waikouru Army Military Camp. Here all 13 Service Academies from the Central North Island Region from Whakatane to Wellington experience the lifestyle of a Soldier, Sailor or Airmen. The students all stay in the Army barracks in their respective platoons commanded by Military Staff. Every day is planned to start at 0530 every morning to late hours of the night. Activities the students participate in are:

- Military Drill

- NZ Military history
- Team dynamics

And many more activities where the students are challenged Mentally, Physically, emotionally. There is no other environment better than being in a real-life Military Camp experience.

Bushcraft

Bushcraft is an Outdoor recreation course where the students learn how to live in a camping environment. Again, NZDF Staff oversee the entire exercise. It gives them an insight on some of the things the Defense Force practice whilst in the field. Here the students learn how to:

- Set up camp using what they have in their back packs
- Tramping
- River crossing
- Navigate using map and compass
- Building survival shelters
- Collecting water
- Improvised Stretcher making
- Cooking in the field
- Maintaining hygienic
- Setting up animal traps using what you have on you.

Bushcraft is a 5-day field exercise held in different parts of the country.

Basic Leaders Course

Basic Leaders is a 5-day leadership course held in Trentham Military Camp, Wellington. Students are nominated by their Platoon commanders from Induction Course for showing and displaying traits of Leadership. Here the students learn everything about leading teams with a military styled leadership template. The students are put into teams. They are put through numerous tasks and activities where they plan, come up with a set of orders (task plan) and they present it to their respective group. The objective is to give the orders and to stand back and let your team do everything. This is a challenge as some leaders get in and do the work where they are supposed to lead. Again, 5 students from each academy are nominated and all work together. Basic Leaders course is where students learn the fundamentals of leading teams.

Advance Leaders

Advanced Leaders is a more intense leadership course. 2 students from each academy are nominated by NZDF Staff from Basic Leaders. This is also held in Trentham Military Camp. The activities are more structured, challenging and more demanding into what you are required to have for the task to achieve the objective.

Adventure Challenge

Adventure Challenge is the last and final academy course of the year. This course is a 5-day course and changes location every year. Everything the students have learnt throughout the year is put into the Adventure Challenge. It is a final academy vs academy race and also finds out who the top academy is. The activities they participate in are:

White Water Rafting

Mountain biking

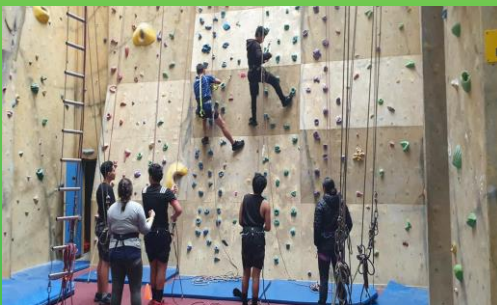

Hiking navigation course

Hot pools

Fun and games

BBQs and hangi preparation.

This is also a farewell to those students leaving to go onto their career paths and those starting their careers in the NZDF Army, Air Force or Navy.
